SLC International Airport to Host Art Open House

What: Salt Lake City Department of Airports (SLCDA) is celebrating its art collection and the artists who contributed to it at a public open house on Saturday. Many of the fine art pieces that were displayed in the former airport now hang in the new SLCDA office space, which will be open for a special viewing. The public is invited to stroll the hallways to see works by prominent local and national artists, including David Adams, Marianne Cone, Susan Gallacher, Anton Rasmussen, LeConte Stewart, Trevor Southey and others. Musicians, light refreshments, a photo booth, and special edition airport print signed by David Mickle are planned.

When: Saturday, December 3, 2022, from 2 to 5 p.m.

Where: -SLC Department of Airports Office, 3rd floor of the Terminal, behind the Southwest ticket counters
-2:30 p.m. Greeting Room – Unveiling of installation honoring former Astronaut, U.S. Senator and Salt Lake Lake City Mayor Jake Garn.

Who: Unveiling Speakers:
-Former Governor Mike Leavitt
-Salt Lake City Mayor Erin Mendenhall
-Salt Lake City Council Chair Dan Dugan
-Gordon Huether, Artist
-Bill Wyatt, Executive Director, Salt Lake City International Airport

Media: The media parking lot will be opened for the event. If full, plan to park in the garage and request a validation.
