The New SLC Airport to Mark Second Anniversary 12 million Craft Hours Worked to Date

- What: To mark the second anniversary of The New SLC Airport opening, officials are planning a Worker Appreciation Event to thank those who have transformed the vision for the new airport into reality. The airport has been tracking the number of hours worked to build The New SLC from day one of construction—in July 2014—to present and the grand total comes to 12 million trade hours.
- Who: -Bill Wyatt, Executive Director, Salt Lake City International Airport
-Sebastiano Cardella, Senior Superintendent, Holder-Big D Joint Venture Construction
- When: -Tuesday, September 13, 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.
-Brief program will begin at 11 a.m. followed by lunch with the workers.
- Where: The New SLC Phase 2 Construction Site. (See map below.)
- Wear: The event is on an active construction site so please wear hard-soled, closed-toe shoes as well as long pants.
