

Construction Update

It has been a busy few months at Salt Lake City International Airport (SLC), as work continues on the Terminal Redevelopment Program. The new rental car facilities are beginning to take shape and infrastructure inside the buildings, such as car wash stations, heating/cooling systems, and flooring materials are now being installed. The rental service site areas have been paved with completed curb and gutter.

Utility work across inbound Terminal Drive continued throughout October and early November but concluded in time for the busy Thanksgiving travel weekend. However, some construction continues near the ramp to the parking garage, where work is taking place on a lift station for the new terminal.*

*Lift stations are important features, designed to send sewage in the right direction. Not the most glamorous part of the redevelopment program - but an important one!

Premium Reserved Parking Now Open

Salt Lake City International Airport is pleased to announce that 70 premium reserved parking spaces are now available on the first level of the parking garage. For $50 per day, customers will be able to take advantage of the most convenient parking available, just steps away from the skybridges to Terminals One and Two. Learn more and reserve your spot at www.slairport.com/parking.

The New SLC Website

While you're visiting our website, we hope you take note of its new design. The updated www.slairport.com is more user-friendly and responsive to all devices, such as mobile phones and tablets. Key features of the new website include an interactive terminal map, which allows passengers to easily view gates, restrooms, shops, restaurants, and airport amenities. An improved flight search function is also available as well as a new Parking and Transportation page that provides clear and comprehensive information for all passenger transportation options.

Stay Engaged

As always, we hope you will continue to engage with us on our social media platforms. It's a great way to stay involved with the redevelopment and all the other exciting things happening at SLC.

Happy Holidays!
