

The New SLC Marks Another Milestone

A ribbon-cutting to celebrate another milestone in The New SLC Redevelopment Program took place Tuesday, Oct. 28, on Concourse B-west. The Salt Lake City Department of Airports Executive Director Bill Wyatt was joined by concessionaires—Art of Aesthetics, Aubergine Kitchen, Good Earth Markets, Moab Brewery, Utah National Parks—to mark the opening.

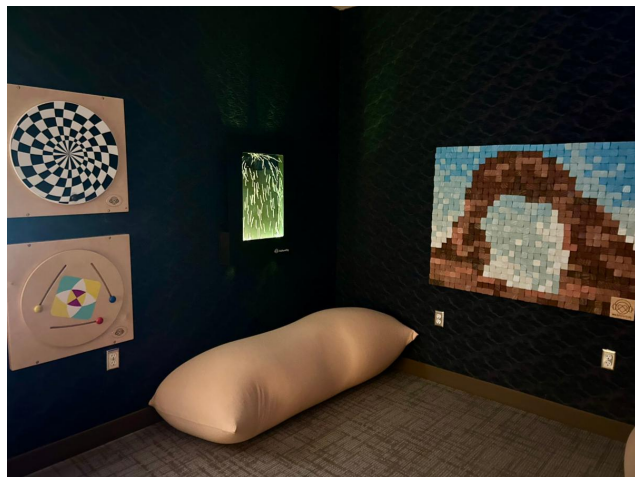

In addition, two new lounges were unveiled to mark the occasion. The AmEx Centurion Club and a second Delta Sky Club are now open on Concourse B.

Two New Sensory Rooms Open

Two additional Sensory Rooms have opened in Concourse B. Designed by KultureCity and their medical professionals, the sensory rooms provide a quiet space for all passengers with sensory needs.

The rooms are equipped with bean bags, visual light panels, activity panels, air walls and ADA seating. For the locations of the Airport Sensory Rooms, go to <https://slcairport.com/maps/airport-map/>

Swallows in Flight Installed in Concourse B

A new large-scale art piece--Swallows in Flight--has been installed in Concourse B-west. The art piece by Artist Gordon Huether is comprised of 2,051 swallow bird laser-cut acrylic shapes with dichroic film applied. Each swallow weighs 4 oz. and the entire installation weighs about 513 lbs. The installation was highlighted during an Airport Art Open House on Saturday, Nov. 8, where Huether met with attendees and other passengers.

SLC International Updates

Navigating The New SLC Airport just became easier with an update to the SLC International app. The refreshed app has links to frequently used information on the main screen so passengers can easily access airline flight schedules, parking availability and airport maps. Security screening lane wait times are also listed to provide passengers with an enhanced experience.

The SLC International app is free on the App Store or Google Play.

SLC was named the number one airport in the United States by AirHelp, a global passenger assistance organization. The ranking is based on three factors: on-time performance, customer opinion, and food and shops. This marks the second consecutive year that SLC has earned the top spot nationally. SLC also placed in the top 10 worldwide.
