

World Map Reimagined

Since 1961, thousands of passengers have walked around the world by simply passing through Terminal 1 at the Salt Lake City International Airport (SLC). This is the location of the iconic terrazzo World Map where travelers have traced their travels from SLC to areas around the globe for almost 60 years.

SLC researched ways to preserve the World Map, but found it wasn't feasible. Instead, the World Map has been photographed and color-enhanced, and will be on display in The New SLC's Greeting Room opening day.

SLC is compiling a history book where passenger memories of the World Map will be shared. Anyone interested is welcome to submit their personal memory here.
